18th February 2022

Happy Friday everyone, and happy half term,

This week at the Wyche

It's the last week of an eventful and successful half term. Red and Yellow class both had a lovely visit from Revd Dave Bruce and Helen Attree this week who acted as expert witnesses in an RE lessons about prayer. Children enjoyed all kinds of fun activities and learned how and why Christians pray. Blue Class are thoroughly enjoying their Spider and the Fly dance choreography and enjoyed a "dance off" this week where groups pitted their moves against each other in friendly competition and peer feedback. Orange Class have really enjoyed creating characters for their Skellig-inspired stories, especially deploying rich figurative language using the SHAMPOO acronym (Symbolism, Alliteration Hyperbole, Personification Metaphor/simile, Onomatopoeia and Oxymoron ...phew!) Green Class, above all, love their choral singing. It gladdens my heart to hear their voices coming through my office wall and it seems to be the emotional engine room driving their amazing hard work and commitment to learning this term.

We concluded our collective worship assemblies about Hope this week by thinking of how believing in someone, having faith in them (your friends, your parents or God) allows you to have hope for the future, trusting that the promises they make will come true.

Next half term we will think how important it is to "Walk the Walk if you Talk the Talk", looking at how inspiring people in history have put their beliefs and sayings into practice, how we as Wyche family members need to practice what we preach and do when we know is right, and how the talk of Jesus' ministry became the walk to Calvary, leading to the events of Easter morning, as we explore and retell the Easter story, culminating in our Easter Service in the church.

Deputy Head Appointment

I'm delighted to announce that after a rigorous selection process involving teaching, delivering collective worship, interviews and presentations, myself and the governing body have appointed Ruth Charles as the new permanent Deputy Headteacher at The Wyche. You may know Mrs Charles already as she is with The Wyche on loan as a 12-month "secondment". This appointment means that we get to keep her. If you've had any dealings with Mrs Charles at all you'll have noticed her good humour, approachability and skills as a teacher. We're delighted to have secured such a knowledgeable and energetic senior leader and if you see her shout "well done" and give her a (Metaphorical) pat on the back.

Online Safety

You may have seen news and social media coverage of some risks posed to young users of the game Roblox. There have been concerns about this PEGI-7 rated game which has described adult players creating zones where they can do things entirely unsuitable for young players to see. Many children 7 and up play this game happily without anything untoward happening but as ever, we parents we need to take a careful, considered approach to children's online activity: Do we know when our primary age children go on line? Who they are talking to? What they are seeing? How long is too long and when it is time to stop? There's good advice here: <https://saferinternet.org.uk/blog/roblox-a-guide-for-parents>.
